DGCA conducts spot checks on 48 SpiceJet aircraft

AGENCIES
New Delhi

Aviation regulator DGCA conducted 53 spot checks on 48 SpiceJet aircraft between July 9 and July 13 and it did not find any major safety violations, Minister of State for Civil Aviation V K Singh said Monday. "However, as a safety measure, the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) ordered SpiceJet to use certain identified aircraft (10) for operations immediately after confirming to the regulator that all reported defects/malfunctions are rectified," Singh said in his written reply in Rajya Sabha.

SpiceJet planes were involved in at least eight technical malfunction incidents in the 18-day period starting June 19, following which the DGCA had on July 6 issued a show-cause notice to the airline, stating that "poor internal safety oversight" and "inadequate maintenance actions" have resulted in degradation of safety margins.

Just three days after issuing the notice, the regulator started conducting spot checks on SpiceJet planes, Singh stated. The spot checks were completed on July 13.

"A total of 53 spot checks were carried out on 48 aircraft which did not find any major significant finding or safety violation," he mentioned.

The DGCA's safety oversight process involves series of successive follow up steps which includes communication of observations or findings to the airlines for taking corrective action, review of corrective action taken by the airlines for taking a decision, and initiating enforcement action consisting of warning, suspension, cancellation or imposition of financial penalty to the person or the airline involved, he noted.

In its notice to SpiceJet on July 6, the regulator had said that the airline has failed to "establish safe, efficient and reliable air services" under the Aircraft Rules, 1937. "The review (of the incidents) transpires that poor internal safety oversight and inadequate maintenance actions (as most of the incidents were related to either component failure or system-related failure) have resulted in degradation of the safety margins," the notice added. The regulator gave airline three weeks to respond to the notice. The DGCA had on July 19 started a 2-month-long special audit of all Indian carriers after its spot checks earlier this month found that insufficient and unqualified engineering personnel are certifying flight plans before their departure, officials said.

Meanwhile, in aviation, everything depends on the air traffic control and with one mistake anything can happen, the Bombay High Court remarked on Monday while hearing appeals on dangers to aircraft by high-rises near Mumbai airport. A division bench of Chief Justice Dipankar Datta and Justice M S Karnik was hearing a public interest litigation filed by advocate Yashwant Shenoy, seeking action against construction of buildings above the prescribed height limit in the vicinity of the city airport.

Congress MLA's comment stirs controversy in K'taka

BENGALURU

Congress leader and MLA B Z Zameer Ahmed Khan's remarks about Muslims outnumbering Vokkaligas in Karnataka has stirred a controversy, with it now taking the shape of "community politics". Vokkaliga leaders from the ruling BJP hit out at Khan for his remarks by projecting it as an attempt to belittle the politically dominant community, even as Congress leaders tried for damage control while expressing reservations against the comments made.

There are reports that Nirmalanandanatha swamiji, a prominent Vokkaliga seer, has conveyed his unhappiness to Congress leaders in this regard. Khan, who is considered to be a close confidant of Congress Legislative Party leader Siddaramaiah, while reacting to party's state President D K Shivakumar's attempt to consolidate the Vokkaliga community, had recently said that nobody can become the Chief Minister with support from just one community.

"No one can become CM with support from one community, everyone will have the desire (to become CM) that's not wrong... it is possible (to become CM) only by taking all communities together? I too have a desire to become CM. My community's percentage is more than that of Vokkaligas. Is it possible for me to become CM, just with the support of my community? Not possible," Khan said.

Shivakumar, who is a Vokkaliga, had recently called on the community, which forms a major vote-bank in the old Mysuru or southern Karnataka region, to support his Chief Ministerial bid. Shivakumar and Siddaramaiah have been engaged in a political one upmanship for months now, as both are Chief Ministerial aspirants in the event of Congress coming to power in the state after 2023 Assembly polls.

Though Siddaramaiah has been maintaining that the party's newly elected legislators and high command will decide on who will be the Chief Minister, his loyalists including Khan have been openly making statements in favour of their leader, ignoring warnings of disciplinary action, leaving the party virtually divided.

Khan's statement that Muslims outnumber Vokkaligas in the state, while trying to make a case for Siddaramaiah as CM face, has now led to a controversy and has drawn criticism. Expressing his displeasure over Khan's statement, Congress leader and Vokkaliga leader from Mandya Cheluvannaiah said, "unnecessary mentioning about the community was not right."

SFI protests for second day over Bengal jobs scam

KOLKATA

CPI(M) student wing SFI on Monday staged a protest for the second consecutive day demanding the arrest of all those involved in the school jobs scam in West Bengal. Around 100 members of the Students' Federation of India (SFI) blocked the arterial College Street-M G Road Crossing for some time and raised slogans against the ruling TMC, holding it responsible for depriving eligible candidates of getting jobs.

A number of the protesters were Presidency University students, besides those of other neighbouring institutions such as Surenbratan, Bangabasi and Jaipuria colleges. SFI had staged a similar protest at Seal-dah station on Sunday during which they beat drums and raised slogans demanding that the Enforcement Directorate (ED) bring to book all those who are involved in the scam.

State minister Partha Chatterjee and his associate Arpita Mukherjee have been arrested by the ED in connection with its probe into the appointment scam in which teaching jobs in state government-sponsored and aided schools were allegedly offered in lieu of money. A large sum of money has reportedly been found in the flat of Mukherjee, while Chatterjee was the then state education minister when the scam took place.

SC dismisses plea on lawyers' summer dress

The Supreme Court on Monday refused to entertain a plea seeking exemption for lawyers from wearing black coats and gowns in the apex court as well as high courts across the country during summer. A bench of Justices Indira Banerjee and V Ramasubramanian said it cannot entertain the plea under Article 32 and asked the petitioner to approach the Bar Council of India (BCI) with his grievance.

The top court also granted liberty to lawyer Shaileendra Mani Tripathi to approach the top court again if the BCI does not act on his plea. The petitioner withdrew the plea and the matter was dismissed as withdrawn. Senior advocate Vikas Singh appeared for the petitioner. The plea has sought a direction to state bar councils to amend their rules and decide the time period when lawyers would be exempted from wearing black coats and gowns depending upon the fact as to when the summer peaks in the particular state.

Wearing coats during torrid summer makes it difficult for lawyers to move from one court to another, it said. Lawyers' dress code is governed by the Bar Council of India Rules under the Advocates Act, 1961, and they make it mandatory for an advocate to wear a black coat with a white shirt and a white neck-band. Under the rules, wearing an advocate's gown is optional except when the lawyer is appearing in the Supreme Court or in a high court.

Punjab, Delhi plan cash incentive for farmers

The Aam Aadmi Party governments in Punjab and Delhi plan to provide cash incentive to farmers in the border state for not burning stubble and have requested the Centre to share the cost, officials have said. Paddy straw burning in Punjab and Haryana is a major reason behind the alarming spike in air pollution levels in the national capital in October and November. Farmers set their fields on fire to quickly clear off the crop residue before cultivating wheat and potato.

Punjab generates around 20 million tons of paddy straw annually. "We have prepared a proposal to provide a cash incentive to farmers who desist from burning paddy straw. The plan is that the Centre should bear 50 per cent of the cost and Punjab and Delhi will contribute 25 per cent each," a senior Punjab government official said. "Delhi will share the cost since smoke from farm fires impact air quality in the national capital," he said.

"The proposal has been sent to the Centre. Once it is approved, it will be tabled before the Punjab cabinet," the official said. He said the Punjab and Delhi governments will implement the scheme even if the Centre doesn't agree. Delhi government is yet to offer a commitment to the proposal. Farm machinery is provided to farmers for in-situ management of stubble at a subsidised rate under a centre-sponsored scheme.

Covid leading cause of maternal deaths

RTI data reveals 29 of 197 maternal deaths attributed to Covid-19 in 2020, increased to 43 of 190 in 2021; pregnant women with comorbid issues more prone to virus, complications

swapnil.mishra@fjpi.co.in

Covid-19 was the major reason behind most maternal deaths across Mumbai in 2021 compared to 2020. A Right To Information filed by activist Chetan Kohari data reveals that 29 of 197 (14.7 per cent) maternal deaths attributed to Covid-19 in 2020 increased to 43 of 190 maternal deaths or (22.63 per cent) in 2021. Earlier, haemorrhage, sepsis, and TB had been the leading cause of death. However, the doctors believe that there is a need for awareness related to vaccination among pregnant women who are more susceptible to contracting Covid-19.

The other major causes of maternal death in 2021 were Haemorrhage (21 deaths), Sepsis (22 deaths), TB (16 deaths), Heart Disease (9 deaths), Anaemia (4 deaths) & High BP (3 deaths). However, 32 maternal deaths in 2019 and 18 maternal deaths in 2020 were due to haemorrhage.

"The data showed that in the last three years, 71 maternal deaths were caused due to haemorrhage. This is preventable if the haemoglobin level of women is built properly by regular, timely Ante-natal check-up (ANC), which sometimes females avoid. In case, a female bleeds a lot during delivery, then she can be saved by blood transfusion, provided adequate blood is available in time. Time and again, serious matters of blood shortage have been highlighted. These deaths are indirectly, to a certain extent, the result of such deaths," said a senior doctor.

A senior gynaecologist from the civic-run hospital said, "Covid-19 leads to health complications in pregnant women as it adds complications of lungs and other organs in a small percentage."

"During pregnancy, the immunity level decreases, which makes them more susceptible to the infection. So, women with comorbid health issues develop complications. Many found out they had Covid at the time of delivery," she said.

Moreover, there should be detailed studies to understand if the basic aetiology of maternal deaths has changed, as sepsis, haemorrhage, and hypertension have been some of the most common causes, and those continue to be formidable.

Dr Pratima Thamke, consultant obstetrician & gynaecologist, Motherhood Hospital, Kharghar, said, "Pregnant women have higher chances of getting infected with Covid-19, and should get vaccinated as per doctor's advice. The vaccine doesn't lead to Covid infection. It is safe for pregnant women and their babies too."

"Vaccination can allow the mother to build antibodies that can even offer protection to the babies. Various studies suggest that the vaccine doesn't lead to any complications during pregnancy or impact the baby, fertility, or change menstruation. Pregnant ladies should not skip vaccination at all," she said.

Phone tapping: MHA seeks to dispose of plea against State

bhavna.uchil@fjpi.co.in

Following the transfer of the case concerning phone tapping by former Rashmi Shukla to the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) last week, the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) that had challenged an order of a magistrate court that was in favour of the state, on Monday sought before a sessions court to dispose of its plea.

The state was probing the 'leak of confidential information pertaining to corruption in police transfers and postings in the state. The alleged leak took place during the tenure of Shukla when she was heading the State Intelligence Department.

On December 28 last year, a city magistrate court had directed the MHA to hand over documents and devices the state had sought from it, within 10 days. Among the devices sought is suspected to be a pen drive that then leader of opposition Devendra Fadnis had given to the MHA. Fadnis had sought a CBI probe into the matter and said in a press conference that he had given information regarding the Maharashtra police transfer racket to the Union Home Ministry. The MHA then approached the sessions court against the order on January 13, 2022.

Special public prosecutor Shiram Shirsat told a court that the MHA wants to withdraw the plea since the matter is transferred to the CBI

On Monday, special public prosecutor Shiram Shirsat told a court that the MHA wants to withdraw the plea since the matter is transferred to the CBI and that the plea be disposed of. Special Judge RN Rokade asked why the plea is being withdrawn and that it can be decided on merits. The court will hear the matter on Tuesday.

Cops step in to fill potholes on Mumbai-Nashik Highway

ABHITASH SINGH

With the potholes on the Mumbai-Nashik highway claiming life of motorists, the police have come forward to fill them.

Two days ago, Brijesh Kumar Jaiswar, 46, a resident of Ulhasnagar was riding a pillion on a bike driven by his friend Ramjanak Sharma. They were on way home from work. When they reached at Ranjanoli Naka, Sharma lost the balance of the bike due to potholes and both of them fell down. Brijesh was crushed under the dumper coming from behind. The Kogona police in Bhiwandi registered a case under relevant sections of the Indian Penal Code. Nirav's bro-in-law can't travel to Hong Kong: HC

urvi.mahajani@fjpi.co.in

The Bombay High Court (HC) on Monday refused to grant urgent permission to Mahank Mehta—brother-in-law of fugitive diamondaire Nirav Modi—for travel to Hong Kong, after the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI), which is probing the case, contended that it is having a hard time extraditing Modi, who is the main accused.

However, a division bench of justices Ravati Mohite-Dere and Sharmila Deshmukh also restrained the CBI from taking any coercive action against Mehta till August 23 while asking him to appear before the central agency for investigation.

The HC was hearing an appeal filed by the CBI against the order of the special court trying cases registered under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) allowing Mehta to travel back to his residence in Hong Kong. Earlier, Mehta was an accused in the Enforcement Directorate (ED) case against Modi. He and his wife Purvi (Modi's sister) agreed to cooperate and give the information they had against Modi. Following this they were granted pardon by the PMLA court trying the ED case. After Mehta got permission for travel to Hong Kong, the CBI opposed the same contending that he was still an accused in case registered by them and hence he cannot travel abroad.

Mehta's counsel Amit Desai contended that he has been extending all cooperation to the investigating agency. He urged the court to permit Mehta to travel to Hong Kong for one-two weeks since his family is there and he has been in India for over 10 months now. "We have come with clean hands and want to participate in the investigation. He has been asking (the CBI) since 10 months whether he should go (to Hong Kong). He has written to all the officers (of the CBI). They never acknowledge the letters," said Desai.

Seeking permission for at least temporary travel, Desai said, "His family is in Hong Kong. One parent, who is in Hong Kong had a fall recently and there was no one to look after the parent. However, he could not go. He also wanted to go for his child's graduation ceremony; it's an emotional issue."

Swine flu cases in Maharashtra seem to be on the rise, with two patients from Kopri in Thane succumbing to the infection last week. These are the first deaths due to the H1N1 virus in the city informed officials from the Thane Municipal Corporation (TMC).

"There have been 20 positive cases of Swine Flu in Thane city till date with two deaths. Babita Hate, 72, was admitted to Mahavir Jain Hospital after she fell ill on July 9. She tested positive for H1N1 on July 14 and was shifted to the Parking Plaza dedicated Covid-19 health centre after her condition deteriorated, where she succumbed to the infection after having a heart attack," TMC's deputy medical officer, Smriti Haraskar said. She added that the other patient—Jyoti Raja Bajaj, 51—fell ill on July 12. She complained of fever, vomiting and cough. On July 13, she tested negative for Covid but positive for H1N1 on July 14. She succumbed to the infection on July 18 at a Thane healthcare centre.

Kissing incident: Shilpa Shetty seeks dismissal of plea

STAFF REPORTER
Mumbai

Actor Shilpa Shetty has sought dismissal of a plea challenging the order of a magistrate court in Ballard Pier that had discharged her in January this year in an obscenity case involving American actor Richard Gere.

The complaint was filed against her at Alwar police station in Rajasthan by a person in 2007, in connection with the incident where Gere had kissed her on stage during a charity event in Delhi. As per the apex court's orders, the case was transferred to a Mumbai court. Magistrate Ketaki M Chavan of the Ballard Pier court had called her a victim of the act of Gere and gave her a clean chit in January this year.

However, in April, the Alwar police approached the sessions court against the magistrate's order and stated in its plea that the magistrate had erred in discharging Shilpa and that her act of kissing or allowing to be kissed in a public place amounted to obscenity. It had said that if the court peruses the FIR, it will find that a prima facie case is made out against her.

On Monday, in her reply through advocate Prashant Patil, Shilpa said that she is a victim of malicious proceedings and harassment by the complainant; that she is an artist and has always acted responsibly in public. She said the complainant is approaching the court for cheap publicity and that the only allegation against her is that she did not protest while being kissed, but this does not make her a conspirator or perpetrator of any crime.

Currency notes have tactile features to aid visually challenged: RBI to HC

STAFF REPORTER
Mumbai

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Monday informed the Bombay High Court that it has included several tactile features in currency notes so that visually impaired can easily identify the same.

A division bench of Chief Justice Dipankar Datta and Justice M S Kulkarni was hearing a petition filed by the National Association of the Blind (NAB), claiming that the new currency notes and coins posed difficulty for the visually impaired to identify and distinguish them.

Uday Warujnikar, advocate for NAB, told the court that earlier the notes and coins were of different sizes and hence were easily identifiable.

"The RBI after the filing of this plea developed a mobile application which could be used by visually impaired people," he told the court.

Senior counsel Venkatesh Dhond, appearing for the RBI, informed the court that apart from developing the application, the RBI had also consulted with several associations working for the visually-impaired people.

"The RBI has developed several tactile features in the currency notes, including identification marks and raised lines," said Dhond.

The Rs 100 note has a triangle and four raised lines. Rs 500 note has a circle and five lines and the Rs 2,000 note has a rectangle and seven lines, Dhond further informed the court.

The court noted that the problems in the petition are serious and asked the petitioner to file an affidavit giving further suggestions. When the civic body had set the STPs in the city, it claimed that recycled water can be used for potable purposes, too. However, the civic body could not get buyers.

On the other hand, the Central government was pushing for recycling and using sewage water. As a result, the NMMC has set up two state-of-the-art wastewater treatment plants at Airoli and Koparkhairane under the Central government's Amrit Mission.

NMMC BEGINS TRIAL RUNS

Industries to get treated water soon

AMIT SRIVASTAVA

The Navi Mumbai Municipal Corporation (NMMC) began trial runs to supply recycled water to industrial units from the tertiary level sewage treatment plant (STP) in Koparkhairane. The work on another tertiary level STP plant in Airoli is also in the final stage. Civic chief Abhijit Bangar has directed officials to start the actual supply within a month to the industrial units situated in the Trans Thane Creek (TTC) industrial area.

According to senior civic officials, more than 30 industrial units have shown interest to buy treated water from the

NMMC, which according to them is cheaper than they are getting water from MIDC. At present, the industrial units in the TTC area get water from the MIDC at Rs 22.50 per cubic meter and a total of 50 MLD of water is supplied per day. However, the civic body will provide water with tertiary level treatment at Rs 18.50 per cubic meter. The civic body expects to churn out around
